

WWCC Roller Contest 2015

This year's 'Race to Nowhere' saw 20 youth riders take part with ages ranging from just 8 old to 15...

At the younger end of the age scale in the Under 10's section Tom white put in a fantastic ride going faster than all the under 12's and all but one of the under 14 year olds!

Whereas the Under 12's was a much closer run affair with just 3.3 seconds cover the first six riders. And it was Will Perry who just nudged ahead of Alex Thomson to take victory in that age group.

Moving up to the under 14's we saw an absolute runaway win for Sophie White with a performance of exceptional quality - one to look out for in the future!

The head to head between two experienced under 16 years olds in the form of Seb Bacon & Joe Lister saw the speed rise and the times tumble. However it was Joe Lister who ensured that his lead from the first, flying 250M ride was never threatened. Both riders being 'encouraged' by their farther who were assisting with the event.

Moving into the adult event which was denied the presence of defending Champion Carl Hardwick and 15 times former winner, Robin Kyte, it was left to the returning champion from 2000 Steve White to seal victory over first timer John Crossen. Steve was just 5.2 seconds slower than his winning time 15 years ago, but it was a remarkable performance by John considering that he had only mastered roller riding that very evening!!!"

In all an exhilarating nights racing and we didn't even have to leave the building!

Many thanks to all who helped in staging the event,

Robin Kyte.
